

Session 5

Guiding principles on policymaking on national level data governance frameworks

Ernest Guevarra

ernest@guevarra.io

University of Oxford

Social contract for data

Theory of change: data for development

Data governance layers

|                                                                                                                  | National                                                                                                                                                                                                      | International                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|  Infrastructure policies | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Universal coverage of broadband networks</li> <li>• Domestic infrastructure to exchange, store, and process data</li> </ul>                            | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Global technical standards for compatibility of hardware and software</li> <li>• Regional collaboration on data infrastructure to achieve scale</li> </ul>                                         |
|  Laws and regulations    | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Safeguards to secure and protect data from the threat of misuse</li> <li>• Enablers to facilitate data sharing among different stakeholders</li> </ul> | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Cybersecurity conventions for collaboration on tackling cybercrime</li> <li>• Interoperability standards to facilitate data exchanges across borders</li> </ul>                                    |
|  Economic policies      | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Antitrust for data platform businesses</li> <li>• Trade in data-enabled services</li> <li>• Taxation of data platform businesses</li> </ul>     | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• International tax treaties to allocate taxation rights across countries</li> <li>• Global trade agreements on cross-border trade in data-enabled services</li> </ul>                               |
|  Institutions          | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Government entities to oversee, regulate, and secure data</li> <li>• Other stakeholders to set standards and increase data access and reuse</li> </ul> | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• International organizations to support collaboration on data governance and promote standardization</li> <li>• Cooperation on cross-border regulatory spillovers and enforcement issues</li> </ul> |

Integrated national data system

Data flow

Data supply and demand

Data policies

